one hundred and thirteen churches, eight chapels, fifty-four minor sections, eightyfive missionaries, three academies for boys and one for girls, six orphan asylums and theen parochial schools. Right Rev. Dr. M'Closkey was held very dearly in esteem by the late Archbishop Hughes, and from certain acts immediately before his death, and the testamentary papers which he left behind him, the inference is that he desired to be succeeded by his former coadjutor.
At all events he became the selection of the pope. The installation of Most Rev.
Dr. M'Closkey as the archbishop of the Catholic diocese of New York took place on Sunday, August 21, 1864, at St. Pat-rick's cathedral, before a vast audience.
